

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides methods for using NF $\kappa$ B decoys to regulate (suppress) transcription activated by NF $\kappa$ B, and to suppress neointimal formation in grafts. Furthermore, the present invention relates to agents for protection from intimal thickening in vascular grafts that 5 comprise NF $\kappa$ B decoys.